New Workshop and D2L 10.2 Upgrade

The Center for eLearning is excited to announce Desire2Learn (D2L) has released version 10.2!

This upgrade includes many feature improvements and fixes to D2L’s usability, an overhaul of the look and feel, changes to how users create course content, and many other added functionalities that will enhance instructor and student experiences. The Center for eLearning has developed a new workshop, “BlazeVIEW D2L: What’s New in 10.2?”, that will help you to become familiar with this upgrade’s improvements. We are also excited to announce that this is an in-place upgrade and does not require course content migration, so you can continue preparing for spring 2014 classes as you typically would.

The USG is upgrading all instances of D2L, including BlazeVIEW and GoVIEW, to version 10.2 during the 2013 winter break. The upgrade will make BlazeVIEW D2L and GoVIEW unavailable for part of the winter break starting on Dec. 19th. BlazeVIEW D2L and GoVIEW are expected to be back open for access and upgraded by Dec. 27th.

Visit the D2L 10 section of the “VSU D2L Instructor Tutorial CO” in BlazeVIEW D2L and/or attend our upcoming “BlazeVIEW D2L: What’s New in 10.2?” workshops where you will learn about the new features including:
