Part B. To Be Completed by the Physician

Definition: Life-threatening or emergency medical or medical health condition means a health condition involving a serious, extreme, or life-threatening illness, injury, impairment, or condition that is likely to require the employee’s absence from work for an extended period of time longer than the amount of sick and annual leave available to the employee, and the health condition is such that it is not medically appropriate for the employee to delay the absence in order to accrue additional sick or annual leave prior to the absence. Some examples of such conditions include: advanced or rapidly growing cancers, acute life-threatening illnesses, chronic life threatening conditions involving failure of bodily organs or systems (e.g., heart attack). The absence may be continuous, as in hospitalization following surgery or an accident, or intermittent, as in periodic absences for chemotherapy or other procedures.
